

BYLC OPD Launches New Spoken English Course to Build Career Communication Skills

March 6, 2026

The BYLC Office of Professional Development (OPD) launched a new course titled Spoken English for Career Growth. The four-week program is designed to help learners build confidence, improve fluency, and strengthen their ability to communicate effectively in everyday and professional contexts. The course includes 12 in-person sessions supported by guided chatroom practice, creating opportunities for participants to engage in English conversations beyond the classroom. Through interactive discussions, role-play activities, and practical communication exercises, participants will develop essential speaking and self-expression skills.
